Spectacular American Naval Triumph Reported

Australians Help To Brace New Lines Against Jap Hordes

By the Associated Press
A spectacular American triumph was reported by the navy today with the announcement that the U. S. Asiatic fleet has sunk three enemy transports and two large Japanese cargo ships in western Pacific waters, and further good news came in reports that the Japanese onslaught in Malaya has apparently been halted.

The navy's announcement—the biggest American success at sea in the five-week-old conflict—boosted to 24 the total number of Japanese warships and non-combatant vessels sunk by the U. S. navy and marine forces.

Only yesterday the navy announced the sinking of a fast 17,000-ton Japanese liner of the Yawata class, which could be converted into an aircraft carrier.

The navy acknowledged that the threat of Axis submarines hovering off the Atlantic coast "remains unchanged," and it confirmed the torpedo-sinking of a foreign registry ship yesterday 20 miles off Long Island—the second victim in New York waters within 36 hours.

Survivors of the sunken craft are now being brought in, the navy said.

In the Orient, the united nations' war effort appeared to have taken a brightening turn.

Bronzed, jungle-trained Australian troops, whooping into battle today with smashing a column of Japanese tanks and infantry in their first engagement with the Mikado's invasion hordes, and Britons in Singapore thrilled to a hope that the Malayan retreat finally was ended.

British headquarters said the Australians, getting their heaviest taste of action in the Malay campaign, inflicted heavy casualties on the Japanese and destroyed six tanks.

On the Malay west coast, British imperials were reported to have blasted 14 more Japanese tanks and 10 armored cars out of action.

In the Philippine war theatre, a Rome radio broadcast reported that the Japanese fleet was "in action" off the Bataan Peninsula, where Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces are making a heroic stand.

The broadcast said a night landing was carried out with success—presumably somewhere along the Bataan coast in the rear of the American forces in the main battle line. No details were given.

A war department bulletin reported that Japanese shock troops "with special training" were attempting "aggressive infiltration" into Bataan Peninsula and that fight-

Massed Russian Tanks Battle at Gates of Taganrog in Ukraine and at Same Time Stiffen Drive To Regain Kharkov

SERIES OF TRIUMPHS

By the Associated Press
Masses of Russian tanks were reported smashing today at the gates of German-held Taganrog, 40 miles west of Rostov-on-Don, as Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's Red armies pressed a general counter-offensive through the Ukraine and tightened a trap on 100,000 Germans in the Crimea.

"The Soviet forces are now battering fiercely at the gates of Taganrog," a British radio broadcast said.

Russian troops were reported fighting the invaders a few miles from Simferopol, the Crimean capital, 40 miles north of Sevastopol on the railroad to the Russian mainland.

The direction of the Soviet thrust against Simferopol was not given—whether executed by troops driving westward across the peninsula from Kerch and Feodosiya; from beachheads at Yevpatoriya on the west coast, or from Sevastopol itself. In any case, the threat against the main north-south rail line at Simferopol sharply endangered the Germans' chances of escaping.

Soviet front-line dispatches chronicled an unbroken series of Russian triumphs along the entire 1,200-mile battle line from Leningrad to the Black Sea.

In the northeast Ukraine, Red army troops were reported heavily assaulting German forces at Kharkov. Russia's "Pittsburgh" of the Donets river industrial basin, after piercing the city's outer defenses at several points.

On the central front, the phrase "history repeats itself" took on gloomy new significance for the Germans as Red army spearheads, (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Navy Department Confirms Story That Merchant Vessel Had Been Sunk Off South Shore of Long Island, Corroborating Account of New U-Boat Action Given Out by Coast Guard at Quogue

NAME OR TYPE OF THE SHIP IS NOT REVEALED

Washington, Jan. 16.—(P)—The navy confirmed today that a merchant vessel had been sunk yesterday off the south shore of Long Island.

The ship was an allied merchant vessel of foreign registry, the navy said, officially confirming the account of a submarine action given out yesterday by the coast guard at Quogue, Long Island. The navy said survivors were being brought in, but that it did not know their whereabouts.

The name of the ship, second to be attacked in New York waters in two days, was not divulged, nor was its type.

A mix-up in naval communications was said to have caused the delay in official confirmation. The navy has not yet received full details, it was said, from the commandant of the third naval district at New York.

Yesterday the coast guard said a coast guard plane had dropped food and drink to a small group of survivors seen in a lifeboat and on a raft. The attack, as reported by the coast guard, took place off Hampton Bay, Long Island, about 75 miles from New York City, about 9:30 a. m. Thursday, 32 hours after a submarine torpedoed without warning the Panamanian tanker Norcross about 50 miles from the scene of yesterday's attack.

The Axis undersea campaign extending the battle of the Atlantic to American shores today brought the threat of enemy mines, as well as torpedoes, to east coast shipping lanes.

Mines played an important part in U-boat successes in coastal waters during 1918, and it was fully expected here that the present transatlantic raiders would resort to the same tactics.

Grim Rumor Spiked as False by War Officials

Washington, Jan. 16.—(P)—The war department denounced today as "utterly false" what it described as a "whispering campaign" report that 1,500 bodies had arrived without coffins at the Brooklyn N. Y., army base from Hawaii.

The war department acted after being advised by the army base commander, Brigadier General Homer M. Groninger, that the reports were circulating.

He said it was reported that help was needed to put the bodies in coffins.

Several hundred telephone calls were received at the base, the war department said, and in addition a letter came from a resident of Brooklyn, which stated he had been told that a ship with 1,500 bodies had arrived from Pearl Harbor and the writer and a friend requested an interview to arrange to help put the bodies in coffins.

GEORGE CHARGES ARMY AND NAVY BLINDLY FAILED

Chairman of Senate Finance Committee Declares Departments Did Not Keep Abreast of Aircraft Developments

REPORT IS DISCUSSED

Washington, Jan. 16.—(P)—Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the senate finance committee declared today that the army and navy had "blindly failed" to keep abreast of aircraft developments in modern warfare.

He made the assertion while discussing with newsmen the report of the investigating committee headed by Senator Truman (D-Mo.) which charged yesterday that poor planning and administration had resulted in inadequate and largely "mediocre" warplane production.

"Up until a few weeks ago," George declared, "the army and navy apparently had not afforded the air force its proper place in modern warfare. They were not up to date with their designs and blue print and they hadn't done the work that should have been done."

(In New York last night, John H. Jouett, president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America, took pointed exception to the conclusions of the committee's report.

"In every theatre of the war to date," he said, "our American designed and built warplanes, including pursuits and bombers, have

SOLDIER DELIBERATELY SUICIDES UNDER TRAIN

Berwick, Jan. 16.—(P)—Stanley Krzwickiewicz of Plymouth whose parents thought he was en route to join the army, deliberately climbed out of the Susquehanna river and placed himself beneath the wheels of a fast-flying freight train, Coroner Kenneth McHenry reported.

Beside the body was found a fully-packed army camp bag and in the pockets was a ticket to Camp Wheeler, Va.

The coroner said an eye-witness related that Krzwickiewicz first waded into the river, but turned back when a Delaware and Lackawanna train whistled, and lay down on the tracks.

NELSON TO HAVE MAP PLANS FOR FINAL DECISION SPECIAL SESSION

BY JACK BELL

Washington, Jan. 16.—(P)—President Roosevelt was said to be high authority today to have made it unmistakably clear to those concerned that he intends to vest in Donald Nelson, chief of the new war production board, the final decision on all production and supply matters.

Members of congress have been waiting anxiously for issuance of an executive order formally outlining Nelson's duties. Some of the legislators had expressed fear that the president might not delegate such broad authority to Nelson as was indicated in the first announcement of creation of the new board.

War-Time Code of Radio Practices Laid Down By Director Price Calls on Broadcasters to Ban All Quiz, Man-in-the-Street, Request and Other Spot Programs in Future

RESTRICTIONS ON NEWS ALSO TO BE AFFECTED

Washington, Jan. 16.—(P)—Regulations to keep enemy spies from broadcasting military data to lurking submarines or secret stations over impromptu radio programs were issued today by the office of censorship.

A war-time code of radio practices laid down by Censorship Director Byron Price called on broadcasters to ban all quiz, man-in-the-street, request and other spot programs which might be used by Axis agents to communicate with their headquarters or with saboteurs through prearranged signals.

In addition, radio stations were told that because they were being heard abroad by Axis intelligence operatives, "certain material which may appear on the news service wires as approved for newspapers may not be appropriate for radio."

Besides all of the restrictions which the press has been asked to observe, the radio regulations call for extraordinary precautions to guard against attempts of foreign agents to use the air waves to send out information.

With this in view, Price asked that, generally speaking, the industry discontinue "any quiz program originating remotely, wherein the group is small, and wherein no arrangement exists for investigating the background of participants." This includes, he said, such programs as man-in-the-street interviews, interviews at airports and train terminals, and quiz programs in which the audience participates.

He asked discontinuance also of fulfillment of any request received by telephone or telegraph, such as requests that certain music be played or advising of lost persons, animals or objects.

The code also refusal of requests to call mass meetings or (Turn to Page Eight)

New York, Jan. 16.—(P)—Reports that an unidentified tanker was attacked 20 miles off Long Island yesterday remained unconfirmed today after a long but fruitless search for wreckage or survivors previously reported sighted.

Coast guard vessels and planes were on the alert for a stricken craft in nearby waters despite the absence of naval confirmation of the reported attack.

First word of a new enemy thrust less than 20 miles off the Long Island shore came from Quogue (L.I.) coast guard officials yesterday.

The blanket of silence on whether there had been an attack similar to the torpedoing Wednesday of the Panamanian tanker Norcross 60 miles southeast of Montauk Point came after Quogue coast guard officials reported that one of their patrol planes had sighted an unidentified tanker which had been attacked by enemy warcraft.

They also said the plane had dropped food and stimulants to some 14 crewmen seen bobbing about on a rough sea about a lifeboat and raft and that rescue parties put out, but were unable to locate the tanker.

The Quogue coast guard station then refused further comment, and the fate of the tanker remained cloaked in mystery today.

Meanwhile, all but two of the 40 officers and men aboard tar (Turn to Page Eight)

Roosevelt In Favor Of War-Time Baseball

Washington, Jan. 16.—(P)—President Roosevelt, a baseball fan from way back, urged today that the national sport be kept going during the war.

This was his personal rather than official point of view, expressed in a letter today to Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball high commissioner, who had written on January 14 inquiring what the president had in mind regarding continuance of professional baseball in wartime.

He suggested, too, that there be more night games because they would give day workers a chance to see an occasional contest.

ARGENTINE OBJECT OF PRESSURE

Indications Country Has Changed Position and May Swing Into Line With Sister Republics in Resolution Calling For Break of All Relations With Axis Powers Are Seen

BORDER DISPUTE STILL BIG STUMBLING BLOCK

BY JOHN McKNIGHT
Rio De Janeiro, Jan. 16.—(P)—Indications that Argentina had changed her position and might swing into line with her sister republics in a resolution calling for a break of all relations with the Axis power were seen today in informed quarters as the conference of American foreign ministers swung into action.

Pre-conference talks between her representatives and other conference leaders in which Argentina was said to have been brought under considerable pressure by her sister republics, were believed to have averted a deadlock on the issue, one of the most important on the agenda.

The last obstacle to accord, however, was not yet removed. Observers expressed the belief that the border dispute between Peru and Ecuador left a stumbling block in the path of harmonious action.

Indications were that the resolution calling for a 100 per cent break in relations with Axis would be tested today. It was placed before the conference this morning by Colombia's representative, Gabriel Turbay, ambassador to Washington.

It was believed the resolution condemned the Axis aggression against the United States as an attack on all the Americas, and pledged the American republics not to reestablish relations with the Axis powers separately.

The text of this and other resolutions will not be made public until Monday.

A large factor in influencing Argentina, which earlier had stood out virtually alone against a complete severance of relations, apparently was the position of Central American and Caribbean republics which already have declared war on the Axis.

Their spokesmen indicated they would not consent to compromise on the resolution, whatever action the United States might take.

DRAFT BOARDS MAKING PLANS FOR ENROLMENT

Members of Warren county's two local draft boards are going forward with preparations for the registration of men between the ages of 20 and 44 years on February 16, under the Selective Service System. While definite arrangements have not been completed, members of the two boards are selecting a list of tentative places for the enrollment, it was stated today.

At the same time it was learned that Governor James has ordered all public schools, taprooms and liquor stores closed on the registration date.

The registration, for possible military service, will take place in the regular offices of the 422 local Selective Service boards of the state, or such sub-offices as the boards designate.

By special arrangement with the board, the governor proclaimed, men may be registered before or after February 16. Employers are called upon to allow time off for workers to enroll on the registration date.

According to an Associated Press dispatch, James pointed out that the approaching registration "is being held under vastly different circumstances than the other two registrations," for men between 21 and 36, because the nation now is at war.

WILL COMPLETE LOCAL UNIT OF RESERVE CORPS

Following the receipt of instructions to proceed at once with the organization of the local platoon of Company A, 3rd Regiment, Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps, it was announced today by Lt. Arthur F. Dickinson that he will be at the state armory, Hickory street, tonight and Saturday night from 7:30 to 10 p. m. to accept enlistments in the organization.

Lt. Dickinson was officially notified yesterday of the approval of his commission as head of the local platoon and received word from Capt. Earle D. McCrea, of Oil City, head of Company A, to proceed at once with the organization of the unit. Capt. McCrea will be here tomorrow night to confer with Lt. Dickinson.

It was pointed out today by Lt. Dickinson that those who enlist in the unit will not be required to go on active duty, as service for the present will be limited to one night of drill each week. Guarding of bridges and other active service has been eliminated.

All those who are interested in joining the local company are requested to visit the armory either tonight or tomorrow night and contact Lt. Dickinson.

The officer stated that any ex-service men, ex-guardians and any others interested in the reserve defense unit are invited to join the new outfit. Those who have already contacted Lt. Dickinson should report tonight or tomorrow night to complete their arrangements.

Arthur L. Page, Columbus R. D. 1, chairman of the Warren County Agricultural Conservation Committee, returned recently from a conference of Agricultural Adjustment Administration county committeemen and community committeemen at Meadville. He said there were committeemen there from Crawford, Warren, Forest, Venango and Erie counties. The other committeemen who went from Warren county were: W. L. Armistage, A. H. Bradley, N. E. Dodd, F. L. Dodd, Melvin C. Johnson, Hubert L. Johnson, Albert E. Firth, John F. Schuler, Charles F. Camp, H. E. Ward, Leon D. Whiteley, Clara V. Pierce, A. L. Brown, Clarence Rhinehart.

The conference was called to order by W. J. Baschore, farmer fieldman. Mr. Baschore welcomed the group to Crawford county and said that all delegates knew each other.

The presiding officer, who was introduced by Mr. Baschore, was Clyde A. Zehner, Luzerne county farmer and vice chairman of the Pennsylvania State Agricultural Conservation Committee.

Mr. Zehner introduced the first speaker of the conference. He was H. L. Manwaring, chief of program operations of the Northeast Division of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

"Agriculture must be prepared to produce the largest quantity of agricultural products in its history," he said. "We are well organized to do this provided community and community committeemen and farmers understand what needs to be done and are willing to do it. This may have to be done under difficulty, but I am sure American farmers will meet the challenge. The time for words is past. This is a time for action."

He also outlined the organization of the war boards, and explained some of their functions.

During the afternoon session, under the leadership of Mr. Zehner, the committeemen developed a ten-point program, the purpose of which is to help farmers understand their part in the food for freedom program.

1. Help farmers to realize the importance of the job to be done.
2. Contact other farm agencies to solicit their cooperation.
3. Help with priorities of farm machinery, repairs and supplies.
4. Assist farmers in securing the necessary labor by cooperating with draft boards, service clubs, school officials and other employment agencies.
5. Encourage better gardens on farms and home canning of vegetables.
6. Encourage the collection and sale of junk, tin, burlap, paper and rubber now on farms.
7. Explain the Agricultural Conservation Program to farmers and take orders for conservation materials.
8. Help check compliance with the Agricultural Conservation Program.
9. Suggest methods of eliminating waste of materials considered vital to national defense.
10. Suggest improvements for

Fine Response Made To Bundles Appeal By Women of Warren

An estimate of the splendid response of the women of Warren county to the call sent out by Bundles for Britain, Inc., may be had from the statement of local officials that since organization of the Warren Chapter in October, 1940, it has sent to national headquarters a total of 10,540 articles.

Of that number, 2,183 were sent in October, November and December of 1941. Specifically, articles sent in this three-month period were: 612 knitted garments, 923 hospital garments, 618 pieces of civilian clothing and 31 afghans.

The full total since organization is divided into the following classifications: 3,499 knitted garments, 2,399 hospital garments, 4,477 pieces of civilian clothing, 31 blankets and 134 afghans.

Chamber of Commerce Solicits the Co-operation of All in Efforts to Do Things Worthwhile for Boro

"In refutation of the oft-repeated statement of critics that the Chamber of Commerce doesn't do anything for industry," says William E. Yeager, president of the organization, "I would like to announce that in the last two days six industries have sent in their memberships because the Chamber has been of service to them. Memberships have just been received from Blomquist Furniture store and Alexander Rashid, who know of the Chamber's cooperation with the merchants of the community."

One of the industries, he states, is the Royal Manufacturing Company, whose manager wrote: "As a new enterprise in your city, we wish to express our appreciation of the warm reception and the continued interest you have shown in our welfare." Another, the O'Connor Machine Shop at Sheffield, is grateful for aid rendered continually since the war situation abroad became acute. Mr. O'Connor said, "I never thought Chamber of Commerce men paid much attention to what goes on. I've changed my mind." Phil Saglimbene, of the Keystone Sheet Metal Shop, wrote: "Your timely letters have helped me keep in closer touch with the new requirements expected of business in the present emergency."

THE GIRL SCOUTS CARRY ON

Richly deserved honor came this week to one of the indefatigable workers in the Warren County Chapter of the Girl Scouts of America when Mrs. R. W. Mackay, one of the first persons affiliated with the work in Warren, was chosen as commissioner. It is recalled that Mrs. Mackay was one of the original Girl Scouts in the borough, her membership dating to the first year of Scouting in this country in 1912, when as a school girl she joined the first group here.

Mention should also be made of the recognition paid the wonderful work of Mrs. T. L. Armstrong, for three years commissioner of the Council, as well as the well-earned honorary life membership awarded Mrs. R. S. Cummings, of Sugar Grove, for outstanding activities in the Council over a long period of years.

It is worthy of mention that Camp Birdsall Edey, at Grunderville, acquired for the Council during the administration of Mrs. Armstrong, stands as a monument to her tireless enthusiasm and vision, and this is but one of the projects undertaken during her reign as commissioner that has helped to stamp the Council as one of the best in the country.

PRaise for the Reserve Guard

Now that they have been returned to their homes and demobilized, mention should be made of the fine work of members of the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps, who were stationed in Warren and vicinity guarding bridges, roads, railroads and other critical points since the outbreak of the war.

As these boys surrendered their places to professional guards, and words of gratitude are being heaped upon them, it might be mentioned that no one has made a greater sacrifice than the Reserve Corps. After seeing them in action here every one will agree that they are ready to deal with any emergency that may arise. They proved to be soldiers in every sense of the word.

ENCOURAGE THE CARRIERS

The Times-Mirror is proud of the record of its carrier boys, who have sold approximately $700 worth of Defense Stamps to their newspaper customers. The carriers are serving without recompense except the satisfaction they derive from aiding in the nation's war effort. All subscribers are urged to encourage them by buying generously of Stamps which offer all, regardless of financial status, the chance to help buy the guns and the planes and the great warships that will eventually help to destroy the enemies of our free government.

According to the Kane Republican, Russell L. Durgin, who spoke at an International Y. M. C. A. meeting at the G. W. Olmsted home in Ludlow in May, 1939, is stranded in Tokyo where he is a "Y" secretary. Edward H. Lockwood, who was with him at the Ludlow meeting, is in Canton.

Mark S. James, secretary of commerce, has a good suggestion when he urges that men and machinery in garages made idle by tire and automobile rationing be recruited for work on defense contracts. This idea is already being carried out in Warren and vicinity.

The Bureau of Census has had to help half a million people prove they were born, for war industry checkups, and quite a few were from Warren.

If and when the bombs fall, perhaps our experience at dodging bill collectors will come in handy.

The war brings its curses and blessings. One of these days you may see speed cops on bicycles.

Stop burning waste paper. It becomes more valuable each passing day.

We're still scrap to Japan, but in a slightly different form.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There's a movie in town called "Unholy Partners." In it, among others, are Edward G. Robinson and Edward Arnold. It isn't the best movie they ever made.

But what I thought would interest you about it is this: the action of the film takes place just after the first World War. All through the picture they talk about the feud George White was having with Flo Ziegfeld. In those days Ziegfeld and White fought like cats and dogs. They grew bitter in their Broadway duellings.

Now Ziegfeld is dead, and White has gone on to other fields. In this picture the camera flashes, for perhaps 10 seconds, no more than that—to a telephone operator, who says, "The line is busy, Sir."

That's all she says. She isn't even mentioned in the billing. But her name used to be famous. She is Ann Pennington, of the Million Dollar Year, who once starred for Ziegfeld and for White too.

JIMMY KELLY's place is one of the older hangouts in the Village. It has been almost 41 years since Jimmy first became a nightclub operator in New York. Like him, his help stays on too. His band leader, who has been there 20 years, signed a new contract last week—for the next 20 years.

When I was there I spoke to Jimmy's cook. "How long you been here?" I asked. "Twenty-one years," he told me. When I asked him if he intended to stay, he replied, "I won't know 'til next week. I came here under a temporary arrangement, and we haven't discussed it since."

I WISH everyone who lived through the last war and who remembers President Woodrow Wilson's tragic efforts to build a machinery that would outlaw war for all time to come could see a new drama Broadway called "In Time to Come."

It is the story of Wilson's fight for the League. It begins with his request that Congress recognize that war between Germany and the U. S. exists, and ends with the collapse, or should I say, the refusal of the United States to accept a place in the League.

What I like about it is that very little fiction has been resorted to. The substance of this play came out of the record book and off the front pages of the newspapers of the day. It is told simply and truthfully, with no larding or white-washings.

WILSON'S dream was a justice and a chance for survival for all nations, including the defeated nations, and it was to assure this that he demanded a League of Nations that would function properly, efficiently, and justly.

When it came time to select an actor to take the character of the late war time president, they chose Richard Gaines, a Texan, who plays this interesting role with distinction.

It is interesting to remember that it was Gaines who also played with distinction the title role in "Abe Lincoln in Illinois."

STORIES IN STAMPS

Emperor Francis Joseph Belongs to Old Vienna

STILLED by the glare of the German military bugles, the lilting music and gaiety of Vienna are today only nostalgic memories. Playing an important role in Old Vienna was Emperor Francis Joseph, stern, side-whiskered monarch of the Austro-Hungarian empire, pictured on the stamp above, issued in 1908.

The Emperor, tall and agile even in his old age, was not bound by the conventions of royalty.

His valet, Eugene Ketterl, disclosed many facts in his reminiscences which show the Emperor to be intensely human.

Francis Joseph had a dislike for the "newfangled" instrument, the telephone. Once, while in his bath—an old-fashioned wooden tub—the telephone rang and the Emperor imperiously told it to "Wait." But wait it would not and it rang again. The Emperor had it taken out.

A man of great vitality and capacity for intense work, the Emperor would rise at 3:30 in the morning, have a frugal breakfast, and work until late afternoon.

Although he had wealth that surpassed his own knowledge of it, he was satisfied with simple comforts and but few retainers.

A WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—Government officials and automobile association leaders are in a huddle over a problem that already has been reported from numerous sections of the country—the theft and bootlegging of auto parts, tires and even cars.

No sooner had Price Administrator Leon Henderson announced the rationing of tires, autos and the curtailed production of replacement parts than the whole country broke out with a rash of petty thievery of tires and parts and the theft already a felony on both state and federal statute books of cars.

Henderson's OPA is interested in the problem only in so far as it would, through its psychological and moral effect on the driving public, place a stumbling block in the smooth development of tire, car and parts rationing.

Realizing this, the American Automobile Association and several other agencies have asked Henderson to propose a bill to make the theft of tires, parts and accessories a federal offense.

Thomas P. Henry, AAA president, in his appeal to Henderson, said, "The widespread thievery is creating a bootleg market for illicit trade in these important commodities. This situation will develop into worse proportions unless strong measures are taken to counteract it."

THIS may look fine in print, but reducing it to actual application in everyday prosecution of community and state offenders is another matter. To make the theft of tires, parts, etc., a federal offense when committed in intra-state traffic, would require a constitutional amendment. The only comparable one we have in the Constitution now is that applying to narcotics.

I don't think the AAA or any other organization or agency really hopes to see any federal law passed which would eliminate this threat against one of the all-out war measures.

What they do hope and expect is that the individual states will take cognizance of the problem and pass laws which to make tire and parts thefts, heretofore for the most part no more than a petty offense, a felony.

IN New York State, the legislature already has loaded its legislative guns to prevent this new type of bootlegging. A law has been introduced to make the theft of even an aluminum hubcap a felony that could land a man in the Big House up the Hudson for many times 30 days.

When a two-by-four hoodlum knows that he is up against a year or more in the penitentiary, there will be none of that sneaking around alley corners with a "Hi, Mister, how'd you like to buy a fine inner tube—just off the best from the Dutch East Indies, where they grow the real stuff. It's 100-proof. I won't sell me own mother none of that re-cap stuff, Mister, you know that."

COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICTS GET STATE PAYMENT

Approximately 1,000 school districts in 65 counties of Pennsylvania share a total of $1,428,474 in state aid approved by Auditor General F. Clair Ross, as reimbursement for high school tuition paid during the 1940-1941 school year, according to information received from Harrisburg. Still to be approved are payments to about 500 additional districts not yet in form for warranting by the Department of Public Instruction.

Of the total amount, Warren county school districts received $267,163, it was reported. The amounts to be paid individual school districts in Warren county are as follows: Bear Lake, $442.60; Brokenstraw township, $29,767; Cherry Grove township, $29,767; Clarendon, $2,155.51; Columbiana township, $140.61; Conewango township, $230.51; Deerfield township, $718.66; Eldred township, $788.02; Elk township, $374.61; Farmington township, $119.73; Glade township, $1,963.42; Grand Valley, $789.88; Limestone township, $714.96; Mead township, $2,346.25; Pittsfield township, $2,804.53; Pleasant township, $1,194.28; Southwest township, $1,382.02; Spring Creek township, $1,919.24; Triumph township, $1,047.64; Watson township, $445.24.

DO TIME FOR LOVE

Chapter 13
Friend-In Need

SILENCE, and Lavinia wished that she could come right out and ask the young man why he lived in the dilapidated cottage, why he avoided people, why he never dressed up and went places. But she had never been the sort of person who could immediately start quizzing people. So she went on thinking the questions.

"You don't know how grateful I am to you," Roderick said, "for not getting up and running away."

"Why should I do that?" Lavinia replied, although she knew perfectly well that to get up and run away had been her first impulse.

"Need you ask?" Roderick grinned. "After all, I do look like a beachcomber or something. And I've overheard some remarks when calling for the mail, the village post office. That mysterious young man who never does anything but loaf in the sun."

"That disreputable person who lives in an equally disreputable cottage. He's probably an ex-gangster, hiding away from the law or his past."

He paused, glanced at Lavinia. "So, since you came from the Inn, I naturally thought you might have similar opinions about me."

Lavinia laughed softly. "Don't you know you're tempting me to flood you with questions?" she said. "After all, I am a woman, and I have my share of curiosity."

"Well, since you were kind enough not to run from me," said Roderick, "I'll explain that I used to come here summers when I was a kid. And it seemed a nice place to come for a sort of vacation this summer."

"Then I'm glad I came this far along the beach," said Lavinia gently.

"Will you come again sometime?" There was eagerness, urgency, in the young man's voice. "If you really like me to, yes."

"Oh, I would!" "But I must be going now," Lavinia replied. She held out her hand. "You've cheered me up a lot—and I thank you for it. You may as well know that I was pretty well sunk."

Roderick Elliott took the outstretched hand, held it in a strong, friendly grasp. He looked deep into Lavinia's eyes.

"You've cheered me, too," he said. "More than I can tell you. I shall be looking forward to our next meeting."

"So shall I," Lavinia said. She withdrew her hand, and was puzzled at the odd manner in which her heart was acting. It was beating with unusual rapidity. From excitement, probably, she told herself. It could be Roderick Elliott's handshake had seemed strangely thrilling.

"Shall I walk you back to the Inn?" the young man asked.

"No, thank you," said Lavinia. "That won't be necessary. The moonlight's so bright it's almost like daytime."

"Then—good-night, Lavinia. Good-night—Roderick Elliott."

Lavinia moved off along the beach, seeming to melt into the brightness of the moonlight. Roderick stood where she had left him, watching until she reached the path that led over the rocks to the Inn. Then he turned and walked slowly and thoughtfully toward his cottage.

Freezing Pat
WHEN Lavinia reached the Inn, she went around to a side entrance. She wanted to get to her room without meeting Margot Linden or anyone else she knew. But luck was against her.

She ran smack into Pat, the man who taught dancing.

Closkey, Mrs. Melvin G. Keller, Mrs. Harry L. Lewis, Mrs. William H. Wright, Mrs. S. E. Saylor, John G. Rossman, E. Pinkney Wroth, and S. Montgomery McClure. Par-ticular stress was laid in this meeting on getting the quality and type of books the men need and not just reaching the numerical quota set for our county.

What do the men want? Here

"What's important about me?" "I've been talking with Miss Linden, and she told me that—" "So you and the hostess have been discussing me. How nice!" "Miss Linden told me that you are the niece of Miss Dorcas Prentiss."

"Yes, go on."

"And so, since you are, I—that is, we—"

"You mean my being Miss Dorcas Prentiss's niece make a difference?"

"Very much, indeed. Only Miss Prentiss is quite famous, and she'd naturally want her niece to enjoy her stay with us."

"Good-night," said Lavinia. And she hurried to the elevator and up to her room.

She was angry. Men, she thought, fools! Every one of them always having a motive. And then she remembered Roderick Elliott, and thought: "May-be not all of them either."

Certainly Roderick Elliott hadn't made himself the least bit obnoxious. And he wanted to see her again! The mysterious young man asking the working girl from Armworth's to join him again upon the hull of the wrecked boat.

She began to undress, and as she did so she smiled to herself. Aunt Dorcas and Zoe would be tickled pink if they knew. They would be so excited to hear about the "handsome stranger."

They would want to hear all the details—no matter how insignificant. They would insist that it was just the sort of thing she needed to have happen to her. They would gloat and look scintillatingly about the incident.

It was utterly fantastic for her to go on with it. The man was nothing in the world to her, and she wanted to be alone. Sooner or later he would bore her to tears talking about his cousin in England. All he wanted probably was an attentive ear—someone to sit on the beach and listen to him talk on and on—endlessly—about himself.

"I'll forget the whole incident," she said half aloud, just before she went to bed. "I'll go to another part of the beach, and read my book."

But she did not such thing.

Fast Friends
THE next morning she walked toward the half-buried hull, and Roderick Elliott joined her there. She went the next day, and the next. They began calling each other by their first names. It was almost as though they had known each other for ages.

"Hello, there, Lavinia," how'd the world treating you?" "Oh, a little better, thank you, Rod. How's it with you?"

"Brighter—oh, infinitely brighter!" Lavinia looked forward to the meetings. She enjoyed them.

She forgot the hurt of a few nights before, when she had proven herself to be such a dud at bridge and dancing. She and Rod talked, or sat in friendly silence—understanding—two people who seemed strangely in need of each other.

It was beautiful. It was like something out of a book. Freddy Rand, the store, the Zoological Park, the Brooklyn Museum—all faded from her memory. There was a new-born eagerness about her—a new look in her eye.

"What's happening to you?" Margot Linden asked one day. "You look like a girl in love."

"Nonsense," said Lavinia. "I'm getting rested. The salt air is doing wonderful things to me."

"That," said Margot, "is something you should take up with our press agent."

Lavinia wrote a long letter to her father and one to Zoe. She wanted to pour out a lot that she felt, but restrained herself. She casually referred to Rod as a man she had recently met, a man who seemed to like being with her even if she wasn't a shining social light. That's all she said about him, just that and nothing more.

She devoted the remainder of the two letters to descriptions of the scenery—and to detailed reports of her bridge experience with Mr. and Mrs. Masters, as well as to what had happened when the men at the Inn tried to dance with her.

She felt gay at times—at frequently increasing times.

Books of non-fiction are in great demand, applied psychology, current affairs, military publications, crime and the F. B. Of course good books of fiction are in daily demand. Especially popular are adventure, aviation, mystery, western, and sports stor-ies, historical novels and humor.

Books not magazines are being asked for in this campaign. Three other committees are working on the Victory Book Campaign under the general com-mand headed by Leon I. Jones, county director. The county or-ganization committee is comprised of H. L. Blair, chairman; Mrs. Guy McCloskey, Dr. Leonard Rosenzweig and Leon I. Jones. Members of the local public library staff, in-cluding Janet Ross, Miriam Rich-ardson, Catherine Henderson, Martha Branch, Betty Brann, Marguerite Green, Margaret Am-brose, Mrs. Howard Huff, and Leon I. VFW AUXILIARY HOLDS DISTRICT SESSIONS HERE

Bad driving conditions Thursday reduced the anticipated attendance at the quarterly session of the Northwestern Counties Council, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, held here in the post rooms, but about 60 were present in all, representing Warren, Erie, Meadville and Bradford.

With the civilian defense program as the day's theme, the local officers presented as guest speakers at the luncheon State Senator L. E. Chapman and Burgess R. W. Steber. Dr. Chapman outlined activities of the state council, the methods to be used in combating air raid and fire hazards, signals of approaching dangers and what the citizens of the state should do to protect their homes, their country and their freedom. Mr. Steber brought the problem closer to the home community in his explanation of the local set-up, personnel of defense groups and specific activities of its membership.

Mrs. Katherine Huntton, of Bradford, was in charge of the regular council business session which followed. After announcement that the next meeting will be held in Franklin on April 16, the meeting adjourned for a social time and lunch served by the Warren women.

YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX

No. 10

When to Report Income From Salaries, Wages, and Other Sources

Salaried persons and wage earners whose income is derived from personal services form the largest number of Federal income taxpayers. This year this army of taxpayers will be greatly increased. Those who paid an income tax for 1940 have received the forms for the 1941 income tax return through the mails. In order that none may escape filing the return, employers are required to report on Form 1099, accompanied by transmittal Form 1086, the names of all their employees to whom, if single, they made payments of $750 or more in 1941, and if married, $1,500 or more. If the marital status of the employee is unknown, he must be reported as single.

These returns should be filed on or before February 15, 1942, with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Returns Distribution Section, Washington, D. C.

The law contemplates that every individual, if single, or if married but not living with spouse, whose gross income for 1941 was $750 or more, must file an income-tax return. Excuses for not doing so do not relieve the delinquent from responsibility for the delinquency.

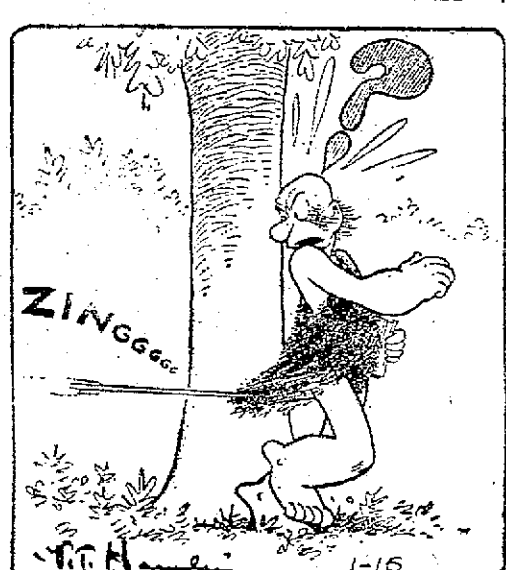

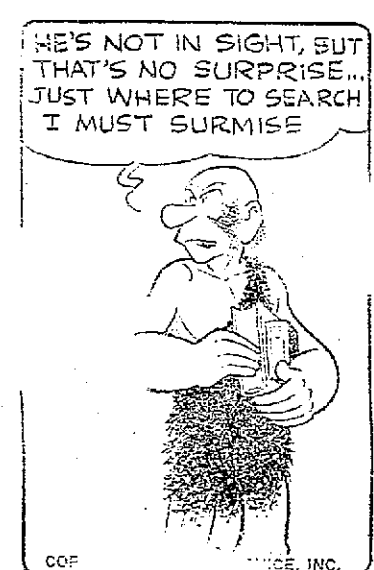

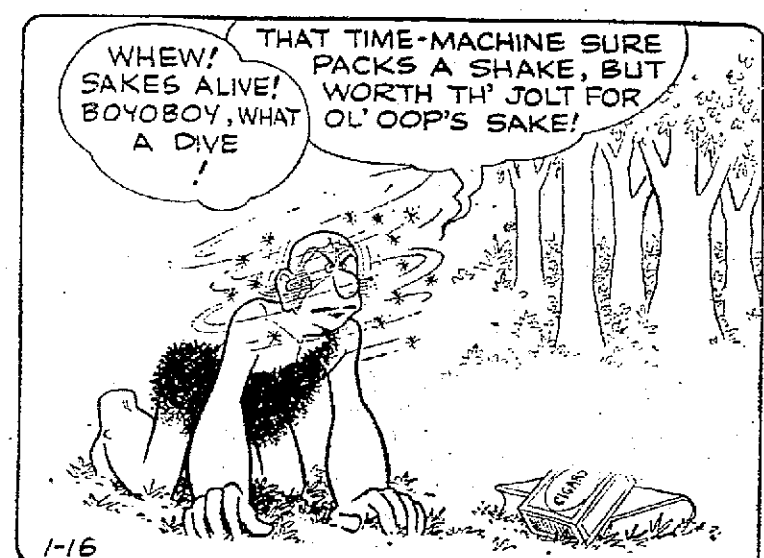

Neither the President of the United States, nor the Vice President nor Federal judges, nor Members of Congress, are exempt from filing returns.

All types of compensation, unless specified excluded by statute, should be incorporated in the gross income of the taxpayer. A minister of the Gospel, for instance, must report all fees he received—for funerals, for masses, for baptisms, for marriages, and for other like services. In addition to salaries, wages, fees, and commissions, all bonuses, tips, prizes, awards, retiring allowances for past services, and other forms of compensation are rated as part of one's income. IMPORTANT GAMES ON TAP IN NORTHERN LEAGUE TONIGHT

Warren vs. Bradford, Kane And Sheffield Promise Lots Of Action in Top Offerings

Warren invades Bradford tonight, and the game they hold the spotlight among the encounters in the Northern League of District Nine Class A, P.I.A.A. as the two basketball forces will be battling for first place in the circuit, both unbeaten in a trio of contests to date.

Along with a perfect league record of victories, the Owls also risk their team scoring position and Fred Fling, stellar star center, and the defending champions, puts his first place in the circuit open to a challenge from any one of at least six different contenders.

If the Dragons score a triumph this evening the Owls may find themselves down below looking up to the Kolpiemmen in more ways than merely that of the included in the league standings. It's not probable, but it is possible and would be typical of the locals that, should they win the ball game, they'd do the job up with ribbons and come out with a whole of a score. That's long been traditional for the Warren cagers, and if they could edge the Owls by a satisfactory margin, they would close to some extent the gap in the team scoring race.

Warren needs to win by eighteen points, however, which lessens their chances considerably. But the challenge with St. Marys and Sheffield close behind. The Dutchmen will tie into Emporium and may easily pick up the majority of 37 points they need to get into the lead or at least a challenging position. Sheffield battles Kane and has similar opportunities on its own court.

Meanwhile, Fred Fling with his 41 points in three contests, will meet much stronger competition in trying to preserve a margin over the field tonight when Warren takes to the court in Bradford with one idea they at least plan to see materialize, that of halting the stellar pivot man.

Martin Smith, second-place individual scorer, stands to lose his notch also, as Nick Otto, Sheffield guard, speaks of Kane, Franzak and DeStephano of Johnsonburg, all go into frays in which lots of scoring is expected by their respective teams.

The loop men for tonight in a nutshell is Warren at Bradford, Kane at Sheffield, Ridgway at Johnsonburg, and St. Marys at Emporium, and the results are getting to the point now where they will present most interest.

There's ample space in the circuit for a deadlock at the end of the first half, what with Sheffield having answered Coach Joe Massala's call to arms so enthusiastically it is now considered a dangerous "dark horse" and may be even more highly respected in the near future.

If the Dragons win tonight, they'll face St. Marys away on Tuesday, spelling trouble on a small court, Ridgway at home a week from tonight, and Kane away two weeks from tonight.

If Bradford wins, they have yet to tangle with Sheffield next Friday on the Orange and Black court, St. Marys at home, and Johnsonburg on the Ramblers' hardwood.

Next year's own team because this league is far from decisively settled yet.

Tonight's main attraction at Bradford is expected to start around 8:45 or nine o'clock, probably the first mentioned time. Warren fans are advised to go early as a capacity crowd is anticipated.

MARCONI OUTING CAGERS IN WIN

The Marconi Outing Club basketball team hadn't won a game until Wednesday night, and though they were victorious then they had to risk their necks to cop the decision.

Playing at the Bethesda Children's Home in Meadville, they topped the A's Clothes outfit 37-34 in a thriller, scoring three points while blanketing their foes in an overtime session.

On the way home, however, the local club failed to complete an "S" curve coated with ice outside of Meadville, and in a ditch, a badly damaged car, and fortunately, only one casualty, Guard Dan Lucia, who received minor cuts.

SPORT SCATTERINGS

EXPECT LARGE CONTINGENT OF LOCAL FANS TO INVADE BRADFORD FOR ELKS DRAGONS ON AGAINST CHAMPS TONIGHT

A large delegation of Warren fans are expected to attend that basketball clinic to be presented at Bradford tonight—we call it that because one team or the other is going to teach its foe a valuable lesson in how to win ball games—and the many local followers who take in the fracas are liable to see anything. We predict the following in regard to tonight's clash, basing our forecast on past contests between the Owls and Dragons. The locals are going to look either very good, or very bad, and we've a hunch they'll look extremely brilliant. That typical last minute fever has struck the team and the fans and with new determination we expect the score to be close, with possibly the Blue and White forces leading the way at halftime, even should they drop the game. We tossed a penny, which might have been the tipoff, to see how the quarters will go, and Warren took the first two, Bradford held supremacy the second half, but the Dragons took the fifth toss. It's always been the thing for both outfits to be primed for this battle, that's why, regardless of past performances this season, you can't tell a thing until the game gets under way. We don't think that Warren will put the clamp on Bradford's screen, but neither do we believe that the Owls will stop the Dragon attack in its tracks, thus we predict quite a high score at the finish line. With best of luck to the Dragons, we still hold fast to our prediction earlier in the week, hoping we've doped this one all wrong.

If you want to save that precious rubber enclosing your rims on that automobile, thus don't feel you can make the trip to Bradford tonight, we'd suggest that if you're seeking other good basketball games closer at home, you can drop in on the Kane-Sheffield show at Sheffield, or closer still, Youngsville's opening league encounter in the Tri-County circuit on their own hardwood against Cochrans. If all goes well the home teams should copy both of these attractions, and looking toward Sheffield, should the Wolverines be victorious, they'll be right up in there tomorrow with a good chance of throwing the Northern League into a tie at the finish of the first half, should the Owls win. Meanwhile, St. Marys can't be in for much more than a workout against the hapless Emporium Tubers, and therefore also will be in a spot to upset things next Tuesday night if the Dragons win tonight. Both St. Marys and Sheffield have been improving steadily, and it's no farce for either Bradford or Warren to win ball games on those small gyms, especially that "cock-topped" affair they have in the lumber town. Back to those Youngsville Eagles, they should win quite easily tonight, but a week's idleness might not have done them any good. Well, that rounds out tonight's major cage program in the area, go east or west, you're bound to see something to your liking.

Bank Shots . . . Guess it's bad luck for the Marconi Outing Club passers to win ball games . . . Up until Wednesday night they hadn't won a ball game . . . Then they went to Meadville, took a thriller in an overtime game, and the shock must have been too much for them. . . On the way home they lost a decision to the icy highways, ending up in a ditch . . . Fortunately, but one member of the team was hurt, he not seriously . . . But the car . . . Look's like Karloff's first movie. . . Russell and Kinzua drove up in the Upper Allegheny League tonight as the Sugar Grove and Lander . . . Russell and the Grovers are bet's to win . . . We'd like to advise all correspondents or others calling in sports events in the morning to phone 1400. That's the editorial room phone number . . . and if you're calling or sending sports items in to this department, we'd appreciate getting them before nine o'clock, just to get an even break at preparing them for the same night's edition . . . Off to the ball game, now . . . Hope to see you there tonight . . . You can help the Dragons by lending them some support in a gym which will be filled with a partisan crowd in favor of Bradford . . .

GOING TO BRADFORD TONIGHT?

IF YOU ARE—Then, please drive carefully. Sleet and snow last night made roads somewhat dangerous, but not impassable. Driving with care will enable you to enjoy the game and return to tell about it. Keep your speed down to not more than 35 miles per hour. Starting at 6:30 o'clock will give you plenty of time to arrive and get a good seat in the spacious Bradford gymnasium, and surely there is no reason to hurry home.

IF YOU AREN'T—If you can't arrange to make the trip to Bradford this evening, and, nevertheless, will be anxious to know the outcome of the contest, spend your evening as you have planned and in order to get the score, merely call the Texas Lunch any time after 10:30 o'clock. The Times-Mirror sports department has made arrangements with the local restaurant to call in all league scores available as soon as they are reported in Bradford.

NELSON LEADS Fritzie Zivic Gets Second OAKLAND OPEN Shot at Ray Robinson This IN 1ST ROUND Evening in New York Fight

Oakland, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP) — Ten years a contender and never a winner, Byron Nelson battled per and a California winter golf tournament today as he teed off leading the field in the second round of the $3,000 72-hole Oakland Open Championship.

The big boy from Toledo, Ohio, who has won U. S. Open and P. G. A. titles, started the second eighteen with a stroke advantage. He led the opening round with a three-under par 67 for the Sequoyah course.

The former Texas caddy set the pace for a formidable field, but whether he could maintain it was another question. In many other California appearances, Nelson's star flickered at times, but invariably faded. This may be the year he beats the jinx—he hopes so and a lot of backers think he will.

The tournament favorite, Ben Samuelson, who has won the title twice, and three others trailed Nelson with 68s. Hogan shared the spot with Mike De Massey of Morro Bay, Bill Nary of Del Mar and Lawson Little, San Francisco.

Most topnotchers in the field of more than 100 were well up with the pace, excepting such notables as Dick Metz, Jimmy Thompson and veteran Horton Smith. Metz muddled through his first round for a 75 and Thompson and Smith bungled out 78s. Thompson nursed an injured hand.

Y-COLTS UPSET IN "Y" LEAGUE

The Class B League game stole the spotlight at the "Y" last night as the cellar place White Horses maneuvered a stunning upset, beating the leading Y-Colts by a 32-30 count.

The Pattersons provided a three-way tie in the Class A league with an easy triumph over the Phalanx.

adopting Nazi encirclement tactics, threatened half a dozen "anchor points" on Adolf Hitler's winter defense line.

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters, making the first claim of a major Nazi success in weeks, asserted that German infantry had wrested control of "an important locality" from strong Red cavalry forces on the central front.

On the North African front, Free French troops were reported ready for their first land attack on the Germans since the armistice of Compiegne, supporting British imperial and Allied Legions battering away at Axis hold-out force in Halfaya ("Helfire") Pass.

Chairman Oswaldo Aranha, Brazil's foreign minister, read a letter from President Ramon Castillo of Argentina, declaring Argentina as "faithful and loyal" as any other of the American nations. The letter said there was a campaign to misrepresent his country's position.

The conference opened yesterday with a round of speeches which sounded a harmonious note.

Ruiz Guinazu vigorously applauded with the other delegates references of United States Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, leader of the U. S. delegation, to the "shibboleth of classic neutrality" and "illusory neutrality" in his speech.

shown marked superiority on every occasion in combat with enemy planes and in other actions against enemy forces on land and sea.

Publication of the Truman committee report brought expressions of support from several members for continuation of the group as a war-time investigating body.

The committee has asked for an additional $100,000 to further its work, and as soon as the report was made public, several senators urged that more funds be granted.

Roosevelt in Favor of War-Time Baseball

Mr. Roosevelt said that 300 teams, using 5,000 to 6,000 players, were attacked last night by a group of at least 20,000,000 people and in his judgment this was thoroughly worthwhile.

AMISH OBJECTOR IS REJECTED AS "UNFIT"

Lancaster, Jan. 16.—(P)—Reuben Blank King, young Amishman who carried his fight to stay out of the army to the appeals board, only to be overruled, has been rejected by the service because of a physical defect.

A conscientious objector, claimed exemption from the selective service. His local draft board, however, held that he had separated from the violence-shunning Amish Church and returned to it only to avoid military service. The appeals board sustained the action and King reported for induction, but was turned down.

ing of varying intensity continued all along the line.

The communiqué said Japanese attack planes and dive-bombers were striking incessantly against Gen. MacArthur's troops and artillery positions.

"Many reports reaching Gen. MacArthur's headquarters from the occupied areas indicate that the enemy is systematically looting and devastating the entire countryside," the war department said.

On the Malay front, British dispatches said a Japanese armored column was allowed to advance over a bridge prepared for demolition and when the column passed over, the bridge was blown up.

British artillery, hidden in the green jungles, then opened fire on the invaders, inflicting heavy casualties and "the Japs ran for cover," the dispatch said.

Meanwhile, Japanese bombers struck new blows against the Dutch East Indies, attacking the big Ambonia naval-air base near the eastern extremity of the far-flung Indies archipelago, and Medang military air base in Dutch Sumatra, across the narrow Malacca strait from Malaya.

Evidence that Singapore's aerial defenses had been strongly reinforced—possibly by Allied United States and Dutch planes—was reflected in the British communiqué report that large forces of aircraft were slashing at the invaders.

The communiqué said British bombers attacked Japanese rolling stock and other transport in the Tampin area, 120 miles northwest of Singapore; sank a number of barges at Sungai Linggi and damaged others, and pounded targets at Sungai Patani, northeast of Japanese-occupied Penang island off the west coast of Malaya.

The Japanese have claimed their vanguards had thrust beyond Malacca port, only 90 miles north of Singapore on the east coast, after capturing Gemas and Tampin.

Australia's Prime Minister John Curtin said he had received reports indicating that "the Australian imperial force is fighting magnificently and has the situation in hand."

Informed quarters at the British western Pacific bastion declared that the British now not only had more men to hold the main line, but could spare strong patrols for offensive operations.

Air fighting persisted, however, over Singapore.

Singapore planes renewed their attacks upon the fortified island for several hours today, bombing several areas. The British said at least one Japanese fighter was downed.

GERMAN PORTS RAIDED

London, Jan. 16.—(P)—The German ports of Hamburg and Bremen were attacked last night by strong forces of the bomber command for the second successive night, the air ministry reported today. The British said their planes left large fires burning in both ports.

MUSTARD KING DIES

London, Jan. 16.—(P)—Sir Jeremiah Colman, 82, known as "the mustard king," died today in his home in Surrey.

Colman and friend his vast fortune was made "not by the mustard people ate but by the mustard left on their plates."

Stuart Falconer made a business trip to Harrisburg on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lindell, Harry Ludwick and Mrs. Jennie Lyon attended the county agricultural meeting and dinner in Warren on Wednesday.

The Sunshine Club was entertained by Mrs. Florence Ludwick on Friday afternoon with 16 members present. The president, Mrs. Doris Stanton, presided. Mrs. Meley discussed the first aid class and several signed up to attend. Officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Arelene Reed; vice president, Mrs. Geraldine Marsh; secretary, Mrs. Lois Lindell, and treasurer, Mrs. Hazel Ludwick. The hostess served lunch. Mrs. Lucy Lindell will entertain in February.

Those attending the Meadville Production Credit annual meeting held in Meadville last week were Harry Ludwick and sons Myron and Gilbert and Ralph Burgett. Cecil Johnson, of Youngstown, O., was called here for the weekend to attend the funeral of his uncle, Hugh Root, whose death occurred at his home in Huntingdon Beach, California, and was sent here for burial in the Five-Point Cemetery. The funeral was on Saturday at the Schoonover Funeral home in Sugar Grove.

OFFICER VISITS ILL RELATIVES AT YOUNGSVILLE

Youngsville, Jan. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Canfield were surprised Tuesday evening by a visit from Second Lieutenant A. Z. Zahner from Camp Knox, Kentucky, who is soon to be moved to Camp Polk, Texas, on the border. He was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. E. E. Swanson, and Miss Myra Smith, of Meadville. Lieut. Zahner is a nephew of Mrs. Canfield, who has been quite ill for the past two weeks. Helen M. Arnold, of Warren, is caring for Mr. and Mrs. Canfield.

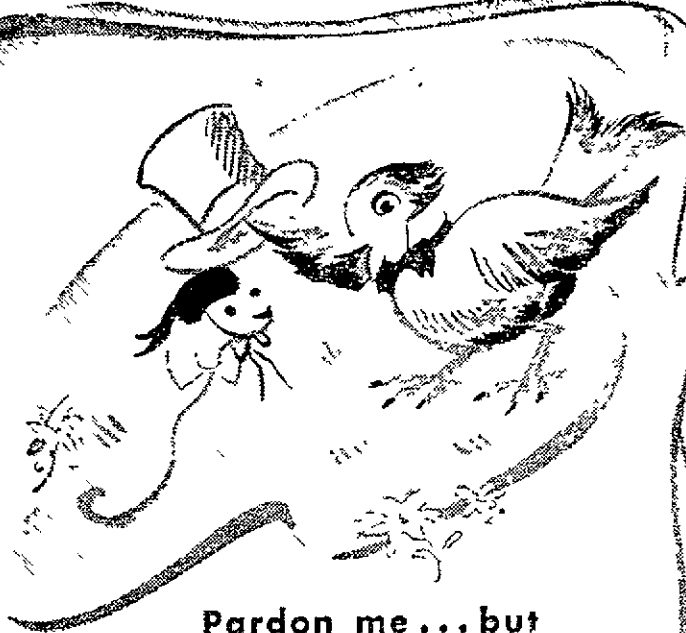

NOT ALL ON PREFERRED LIST TO GET NEW TIRES

Washington, Jan. 16.—(P)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson told a congressional committee today that the tire rationing program must be severe on the nation's luxury civilian population because "improvident use of rubber would bring us to a day of reckoning in the near future."
